यह जानकर अत्यंत प्रसन्नता हुई है कि सहकारिता मंत्रालय द्वारा सफलतापूर्वक राष्ट्रीय सहकारी डेटाबेस (एनसीडी) विकसित किया गया है। राज्य सरकारों, राष्ट्रीय सहकारी संघों, राज्य एवं जिला पंजीयक कार्यालयों, नाबार्ड एवं एनसीयूआई के सहयोग से डेटाबेस का निर्माण सराहनीय है।

देश आज जिस सर्व-व्यापी, सर्व-स्पर्शी और सर्व-पोषक विकास के लिए कृतसंकल्पित होकर आगे बढ़ रहा है, उसके मूल में सहकारिता का मंत्र ही है। सहकारिता की गौरवशाली परंपरा हमारे देश की प्रगति में महत्वपूर्ण भूमिका निभा रही है। समान अवसर और सम्यक विकास के जरिए गांवों, गरीबों, किसानों व महिलाओं के सशक्तिकरण में सहकारिता का अहम योगदान रहा है।

‘सहकार से समृद्धि’ की राह पर बढ़ते हुए सहकारिता आंदोलन को मजबूती प्रदान करने के लिए वर्ष 2021 में सहकारिता मंत्रालय का गठन किया गया। सहकारी समितियों को उनके पूर्ण सामर्थ्य से अवगत कराने और सहकार आधारित आर्थिक विकास मॉडल को बढ़ावा देने के लिए मंत्रालय द्वारा किए गए प्रयासों के सकारात्मक परिणाम आज प्रभावी रूप से नजर आ रहे हैं।

इस कड़ी में राष्ट्रीय सहकारी डेटाबेस का निर्माण सहकारिता के क्षेत्र में देश के प्रयासों को एक नई गति प्रदान करेगा। देश भर में फैले लाखों सहकारी समितियों के समग्र और प्रामाणिक सूचनाओं के भंडार के रूप में इस डेटाबेस से प्रभावशाली नीति निर्माण और उनके कार्यान्वयन में मदद मिलेगी। सहकारी समितियों की कमियों, विशेषताओं, अवसरों आदि की जानकारी प्रदान करते हुए यह डेटाबेस समितियों के भौगोलिक विस्तार में भी सहायता प्रदान करेगा।

आजादी की शताब्दी तक की यात्रा के इस अमृत कालखंड में देश विकसित भारत के निर्माण के संकल्प के साथ आगे बढ़ रहा है। इस संकल्प की सिद्धि में सहकारिता क्षेत्र की भूमिका अत्यंत महत्वपूर्ण रहने वाली है। मुझे पूर्ण विश्वास है कि सामूहिकता की शक्ति से ऊर्जित राष्ट्र प्रगति के नए शिखर को छुएगा।

MESSAGE

I am pleased to share that the Ministry of Cooperation has embarked on an impactful journey, executing more than 54 major initiatives in the past two years, to strengthen and revitalize the cooperative movement in the country. These initiatives align seamlessly with the Hon'ble Prime Minister's vision of 'Sahakar se Samriddhi' and are pivotal in addressing challenges faced by cooperative sectors nationwide.

Under the adept guidance of the Hon'ble Minister of Home and Cooperation, Shri Amit Shah, a comprehensive National Cooperative Database (NCD) has been collaboratively developed. The active involvement of States/UTs and Federations has led to the meticulous mapping of this extensive database in three phases, providing a dynamic and analytical overview of around 8 lakh cooperative societies. The online portal presents data in a user-friendly manner, incorporating analytical reports, maps, and graphs. This database stands as a crucial repository, empowering societies to make strategic choices and enhance efficiency at the grassroots level.

The NCD portal is poised to play a crucial role in identifying gaps within the existing network of cooperative societies, facilitating effective policy-making and extending the cooperative movement into uncovered areas. The launch of this platform underscores the Government's unwavering commitment towards fostering collaboration, transparency, authenticity, and sustainable growth within the cooperative sectors nationwide.

I extend my gratitude to all my colleagues in the Ministry, PMU (NCD), NCUI, NIC division, States/UTs RCS offices, Federations and AICTE interns/DEOs/District Nodal officers for their invaluable assistance in comprehensive database preparation. The NCD portal is envisioned to be a user-friendly and indispensable resource for cooperative users. I encourage all the stakeholders to explore the NCD portal, unlocking its potential for informed decision-making and strategic planning to foster the holistic development of the cooperative sector.

This user-friendly platform serves as a centralized hub, offering comprehensive insights on about 8 lakh Cooperative Societies.

The NCD features an intuitive user-friendly dashboard with detailed analytical reports that plays a pivotal role in policy planning and decision making for the stakeholders involved in the cooperative domain. The NCD portal assist in identifying gaps in the geographical distribution of Cooperative Societies and provides vital information on cooperative linkages, both vertically and horizontally for informed decision-making.

This report, titled "National Cooperative Database Report-2023," goes beyond presenting mere data sets. It includes insightful information and detailed analysis of major sectors such as PACS, Dairy, Fishery, Housing, Labour, Credit & Thrift, Cooperative Banking etc. Additionally, the report delves into the status of cooperatives registered in each State/UT, providing district-wise details accessible through the Portal.

We aim to offer stakeholders in the cooperative sector a valuable resource through this comprehensive report. The authentic and up-to-date data presented on the Portal, serves as a cornerstone for informed decision-making for the stakeholders. We trust that this database will prove to be instrumental in serving the interests of all the cooperative sectors across the nation.

Shri Pankaj Kumar Bansal, IAS
Additional Secretary
Ministry of Cooperation

The Cooperative Movement in India, deeply rooted in the principles of cooperation and reflective of the ancient philosophy of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam,' has undergone a transformative journey. From its humble beginnings marked by voluntary efforts, it received legal recognition in 1904 with the Cooperative Credit Societies Act. Post-independence, cooperatives were strategically integrated into national development plans, with an emphasis on collaboration with village panchayats. The establishment of key institutions like the National Cooperative Development Cooperation (NCDC) and the National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) played a crucial role in providing financial support and guidance. The recent formation of the Ministry of Cooperation in 2021 underscores the Government's commitment to fostering cooperative growth. Operating on principles that prioritize people over capital, cooperatives contribute significantly to inclusive economic growth, empowering marginalized communities across sectors such as agriculture, credit, housing, and more. This cooperative model has become a vital component of India's socio-economic development, aligning with the Nation's strategies for inclusive growth and empowerment.

The Ministry of Cooperation had a vision to deepen the cooperative movement, establish a cooperative-based economic model, and connect every village with cooperatives for overall prosperity. Ministry has embarked on a transformative journey with a primary focus on fortifying the cooperative movement through a visionary initiative - the National Cooperative Database (NCD). This database aims to fill a critical gap by providing comprehensive and up-to-date information on the extensive network of cooperatives in the country. Recognizing the need for collaboration, the Ministry has actively engaged various stakeholders like States/UTs Cooperation Departments, National Federations, States Federations, line Ministries of the Central Government and all other stakeholders at various level. Several committees like the Steering Committee, Advisory Committee and Project Management Group were setup to streamline the development of the NCD. The phased approach to data collection, starting with primary cooperative societies in agriculture, dairy and fisheries sectors, demonstrates a strategic and meticulous approach. The NCD is not merely a repository; it's a dynamic tool connecting with other databases, ensuring real-time updates. The Ministry's commitment to transparency and efficient collaboration is evident in its efforts to link the NCD with various databases, facilitating seamless information flow. Financially backed by the Cooperatives Education Fund, this initiative underscores the Ministry's broader objective-fostering prosperity and equitable development at both the grassroots and National levels. It symbolizes a paradigm shift in cooperative governance, emphasizing transparency, collaboration, and data-driven decision-making for a more resilient and prosperous cooperative sector in India.

The National Cooperative Database (NCD) is an essential online platform capturing and organizing information on 8.0 lakh+ registered Cooperative Societies having membership of more than 29 Crores. It acts as a pivotal link between the Central Ministry and States/UTs, providing detailed contact details for all registered societies, including names, addresses, phone numbers & emails for seamless electronic communication. With user-friendly access to comprehensive cooperative information, the portal ensures secure login-based access for stakeholders. Its analytical tools, reporting modules and query options empower users with data-driven insights, facilitating informed decision-making. The portal's geographical spread maps and GIS data representation help pinpoint coverage gaps. Additionally, NCD plays a crucial role in addressing credit gaps, fostering networking among cooperatives, identifying funding opportunities, and supporting training initiatives. In summary, the NCD is a dynamic hub that promotes collaboration, facilitates informed choices, and contributes to the sustainable growth of the cooperative sector.

The National Cooperative Database (NCD) provides a comprehensive view of the diverse cooperative landscape in India, revealing its extensive reach across various sectors. All the 8.0 Lakh cooperatives have been categorized among 29 Sectors. Cooperatives at a Glance

Cooperatives at a Glance

1.1 Introduction

India has a rich history of cooperatives, rooted in the principle of cooperation encapsulated in the ancient philosophy of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' (the world is one family). This spirit has been ingrained in our culture, driving socio-economic reforms at the grassroots level. The International Cooperative Alliance (ICA) defines cooperatives as enterprises owned, controlled, and run by and for their members, emphasizing their role in meeting common economic, social, and cultural needs.

Cooperatives, prioritizing people over capital, play a crucial role in fostering community business sense, enhancing social bonds, and contributing to inclusive economic growth. Despite challenges, especially in finances and governance, cooperatives empower marginalized communities by providing livelihoods, education, and market access. Recognizing their significance, the Ministry of Cooperation (MoC) was formed on 6th July, 2021, with a vision to deepen the cooperative movement, establish a cooperative-based economic model, and connect every village with cooperatives for overall prosperity.

1.2 Indian Cooperative Movement

Even before formal cooperative structures came into being through the passing of a law, the practice of the concept of cooperation and cooperative activities were prevalent in several parts of India. Village communities collectively creating permanent assets like village tanks or village forests called Devarai or Vanarai was fairly common. Some of them were named as Chit Funds, Kuries, Bhishies, Phads. In the Madras Presidency were organised 'Nidhis' or Mutual-Loan Associations. In the Punjab, a society on cooperative lines was started in 1891 for controlling the common land of the village for the benefit of the co-sharers. All these efforts were purely voluntary and strictly non-official.

The Cooperative Movement in India emerged out of the distress and turmoil that prevailed in the last quarter of the 19th century. The Industrial Revolution left the hands of a mass population and drove them to agriculture. Agriculture, at that time, was the only source of employment and livelihood. The consequent sub-division and fragmentation of holdings made agriculture uneconomic. Many factors such as the rigidity of land revenue collection, uncertainty of rainfall and consequently lesser crop production compelled the farmers to approach the moneylenders. The moneylenders advanced some money either by purchasing their crop at throwaway price or charging a high rate of interest. All these factors emphasised the need for the provision of cheap credit through an alternative agency.

The history of Cooperative Movement in India can be divided into two phases. First, cooperative Movement in the Pre-Independence era and second in the Post-Independence era.

I. Cooperative movement in the Pre-Independence Era

Cooperatives became legal entity way back in 1904 in India with the introduction of the "Cooperative Credit Societies Act". It mentioned the norms for the constitution of cooperative societies, their membership, registration, liabilities of members, and disposal of profits, rulemaking power and dissolution. This Act was restrictive in some manner as it kept non-credit and other societies out of its field. Subsequently, the defects of the 1904 Act were remedied when the Cooperative Societies Act, 1912 was enacted and it widened scope for the cooperatives as marketing societies, handloom weavers and other artists societies. In the year 1914, the Maclagan Committee proposed certain reforms in the cooperative societies especially for the credit societies and it proposed a three-tier cooperative banking at Centre, Province and District levels. The Government of India Act, 1919 empowered the provinces to make law for cooperatives, The Bombay Cooperative Society Act, 1925 was the first cooperative legislation passed by the provincial government. The Govt enacted the Multi-Unit Cooperative Societies Act, 1942 for promotion and regulation of cooperatives having membership from more than one province. The Act delegated the power of the Central Registrar of Cooperatives to the State Registrars for all practical purposes.

II. Cooperative Movement in the Post-Independence Era

With Independence, a different and a new form of government came to rule. It was the government of the people, by the people and for the people. It was also felt that there was need for a conscientious drive to promote people's voluntary participation in planning and implementation of all programs, which were connected with the economic development, so that economic power is decentralized and economic development and social justice can take place simultaneously.

After Independence cooperatives became an integral part of India's Five-Year Plans. The First Five-Year Plan designated a crucial role for cooperative organizations, emphasizing their coordination with village panchayats. Another important event of this period was the publication of the report of the Committee of Direction of the All-India Rural Credit Survey in 1954.

The establishment of the National Cooperative Development Corporation (NCDC) under the National Cooperative Development Corporation Act, 1963, marked a crucial statutory initiative. Another significant milestone in credit development was the inception of the National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) in July 1982 during the Sixth Plan period.

The Seventh Plan aimed to ensure adequate financial support for weaker sections and less developed areas. The Indian Parliament passed the Multi-State Cooperative Organisations Act in 1984 to consolidate laws governing similar societies.

To consolidate the numerous laws governing the same kinds of societies, the Government of India announced a National Policy on Cooperatives in 2002. Currently, the MSCS Amendment Act 2023 and MSCS Amendment rules were created to match the current laws with the 97th Amendment part IX(B) of India's constitution. The aim is to enhance governance, increase transparency, and implement structural changes among the MSCS. Recent policy changes like the Multi-State Cooperative Societies Act and upcoming National Policy empower cooperatives with greater independence to the cooperative.

The Ministry of Cooperation, established on 6th July, 2021, has significantly boosted the cooperative movement by implementing various schemes and initiatives. The Ministry is responsible for establishing a unique administrative, legal, and policy framework for advancing the cooperative movement across the nation. The MoC's main initiatives include facilitating the growth of Multi-State Cooperative Societies and streamlining procedures for "Ease of Doing Business" for cooperatives. Its focus is on strengthening and modernizing cooperatives, promoting transparency and computerization, fostering competitiveness, and ensuring accessible development for underprivileged rural communities. The ultimate goal is to connect every village with cooperatives, fostering prosperity through the mantra of 'Sahakar se Samriddhi,' ultimately contributing to the nation's overall prosperity.

1.3 All India Cooperatives

Cooperative societies in India represent a distinctive socio-economic framework profoundly ingrained in the nation's fabric. Rooted in principles of democratic governance, equitable distribution of benefits, and voluntary associations, these societies serve as catalysts for inclusive development across various sectors. From rural and agriculture credit to consumer welfare and industrial collaborations, cooperative societies play an integral role in fostering collective enterprise and addressing their members' diverse needs. A prominent feature of cooperative societies is their emphasis on democratic decision-making, ensuring that every member has a voice in the governance and operations of the organization. This participatory approach fosters a sense of ownership and promotes transparency and accountability within the cooperative structure.

In India, cooperative societies span across diverse sectors, including Agriculture, Credit and Banking, Housing, Women's Welfare, amongst many. They act as vital conduits for financial inclusion, offering credit facilities to farmers, and small entrepreneurs who might otherwise face challenges accessing traditional banking services. Additionally, these societies contribute significantly to rural development by empowering local communities and mitigating socio-economic disparities.

In recent years, the Indian Government has revitalized and strengthened the cooperative sector through policy initiatives and financial support. Various schemes and subsidies have been introduced to encourage the formation and growth of cooperative societies, particularly in rural areas where they play a vital role in agricultural development. 1.5 Multi-State Cooperative Societies

The Multi-State Cooperative Societies (MSCS) are those cooperative societies whose objects and operations are not confined to one State and they serve the interests of their members in more than one State for their economic and social betterment in accordance with the cooperative principles.

These societies are registered under the Multi-State Societies Act 2002. The Act has been recently amended and such provisions have been incorporated in the Multi-State Cooperative Societies (Amendment) Act, 2023 that ensures and facilitate the functional autonomy and democratic functioning as well as improving governance, transparency and efficiency in management of societies registered under this Act. The amended provisions facilitate the establishment of a Cooperative Election Authority, creation of a Cooperative Rehabilitation Reconstruction and Development Fund, appointment of Cooperative Ombudsman and Information Officers, and representation of women and SC/ST members on cooperative societies boards.

The MSCS are involved in diverse economic activities in various sectors of economy such as Fishery, Dairy, Industrial, Marketing, Housing, Health, Transport, Labour, Farming, Credit, Service, Producer and Processing, Consumer, Handloom & Handicraft etc. At present about 1607 Multi-State Cooperative Societies are registered and functioning under the MSCS Act catering to sector specific needs of their members.

2.1 Introduction

India has a rich history of cooperatives and our forefathers have tried to instill and nurture the spirit of cooperation in every citizen. Cooperation has remained our way of life in India, which advocates 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam [the world is one family] from time immemorial. India resides in its villages and they function on the principle of cooperation to capitalize on various socio-economic and people centric reforms for a better future.

The word 'Cooperation' signifies team trusteeship and elucidates two terminological assertions – saha and karya, meaning working together. The International Cooperative Alliance (ICA) defines Cooperatives as people-centered enterprises owned, controlled, and run by and for their members to realise their common economic, social, and cultural needs and aspirations.

Cooperatives function as people-centric organizations with immense capacity to generate and absorb social capital. They prioritize people over capital, brings cohesiveness, community business sense and enhance social bonding. Cooperatives, both worldwide and in India have significant potential to ensure all-inclusive economic growth. In India particularly, cooperatives empower marginalized communities despite facing challenges like limited finances and governance issues. Their role in providing livelihoods, education, and market access is crucial. Strengthening financial resources, governance, and fostering collaboration among cooperatives are essential for maximizing their impact and advancing equitable development.

The subject of cooperation was earlier being administered through the Cooperation Division of the erstwhile Department of Agriculture, Cooperation & Farmers Welfare. By a decision of the Union Cabinet and through the notification dated 6th July, 2021, a new Ministry – the Ministry of Cooperation (MoC) was created. The MoC aims to deepen cooperative movement and reach upto the grassroots and develop a cooperative based economy model to realize "Sahakarita se Samriddhi" and to provide a separate administrative, legal and policy framework for strengthening the cooperative movement in the country. It aims to foster genuine people-based cooperatives at the grassroots level, promoting a cooperative-based economic model where members work responsibly. The Ministry's core activities include streamlining business processes for cooperatives to enhance Ease of 'Doing Business (EoDB)' and facilitating the development of Multi-State Cooperative Societies. Its focus is on strengthening and modernizing cooperatives, promoting transparency and computerization, fostering competitiveness, and ensuring accessible development for underprivileged rural communities. The ultimate goal is to connect every village with cooperatives, fostering prosperity ultimately contributing to the nation's overall prosperity.

India is home to around 8 lakh cooperatives, out of which around 80% are non-credit cooperatives, such as textiles, hospitals, services, industrial, producer, processing, dairy, fisheries, sugar, marketing, consumer, labour, housing, etc., and 20% are credit cooperatives. Today, cooperatives have a presence all over the country having more than 29 crore members.

In last two years, since the formation of Ministry of Cooperation, the cooperative movement has been strengthened due to several path-breaking initiatives of the Ministry. One of the initiatives is creation of National Cooperative Database in coordination with States/UTs Government. The comprehensive national database will comprise data of various kinds of cooperatives—from the lowest unit of the cooperative sector, that is, Primary Agricultural Credit Societies (PACS) to national-level institutions. By systematically verifying the grassroots presence of cooperatives, this sector is becoming more streamlined and effective in its operations. This revolutionary initiative not only facilitates the identification of active cooperative societies, but also assists the Government in the formulation of policies to strengthen the cooperative sector to elevate the standard of living for the underprivileged and marginalized sections of society.

2.2 Need for Database

Despite India being home to almost 25% of total cooperative societies in the world and with history of cooperative movement in India dating back to more than a century, there was no comprehensive, authentic and updated data repository in the country about cooperatives, their activities, their members, their financial details etc. The availability of organized database of the cooperatives, can help in formulating programs and schemes, mentioning the exact number of beneficiaries. The Ministry of Cooperation was constituted on 6th July, 2021 with a mandate, inter alia to strengthen cooperative movement in the country and deepening its reach up to grassroots; and creation of appropriate policy, legal and institutional framework to help cooperatives realize their potential. To fulfil this mandate, the process for developing a National Cooperative Database was initiated by the Ministry in consultation with the State/UT Governments, National Cooperative

Federations, Central line Ministries and all other Stakeholders at various levels.

2.3 Scope & Benefits of National Cooperative Database

The objective of developing National Cooperative Database (NCD) is to provide:

- A single point access to authentic and updated information on cooperatives of different sectors and develop a process for better understanding of cooperatives.
- The database will function as the main planning tool for Central Ministries, State Governments, Cooperative Federations, Cooperators and Sectoral Institutions like NABARD, etc., for cooperative sector.
- The database would also bring synergy among various databases maintained by Central line Ministries and State Governments.
- It would also help in identifying gaps/vacuums in geographical distribution of cooperatives in the country and establishing upward/downward linkages of cooperative societies (Primary to Apex).

The National Cooperative Database (NCD) captures data on several parameters related to cooperatives i.e., location details, number of members, economic activities, their upward and downward linkages, level of operations, assets and liabilities, etc. It involved development of a web based secure system to facilitate data feeding from each of the district registrar/functional registrar office which can be viewed and verified by respective state registrar office.

By adopting latest IT Tools and Management Information System (MIS), NCD is available on real-time basis to all stakeholders and can easily be adopted for various activities over a period of time.

2.4 Consultations with Stakeholders

The need for a comprehensive database was discussed and agreed upon in various forums, leading to the finalization of data attributes through extensive consultations with states, federations, and central ministries. The project received inputs from 53 stakeholders, showcasing a collaborative effort to shape the National Cooperative Database.

Based on inputs received, sector specific data fields and online forms were developed. Hon'ble Minister of Cooperation accorded in principle approval of the project during a presentation made before him on 30th September 2022.

2.5 National Cooperative Union of India's contribution in the development of National Cooperative Database:

Earlier National Cooperatives Union of India updated state and sector-wise cooperative data on a regular basis for the publication of its Indian Cooperative Movement-Statistical Profile. After the Ministry of Cooperation decided to create a National Cooperative Database on cooperatives, NCUI actively collaborated with the Ministry of Cooperation to develop the National Cooperative Database (NCD). Leveraging its expertise, NCUI's National Cooperative Databank Division (NCDD) plays a vital role in formulating data collection templates and providing insights for efficient data gathering, and supports the National Database Team by contributing to drafting chapters and compiling data for the NCD report. NCUI facilitate the process by creating user IDs for Nodal Officers and Interns/DEOs engaged in data entry and also ensures timely payment of stipends/honorariums of the Interns/DEO(s) and Nodal officers engaged for the data entry of the societies in the NCD portal. NCUI provides invaluable support from the very inception of the NCD project, right through to its successful completion.

2.6 Organizational Structure for Developing Database:

The overall work is being carried under the guidance of Secretary (Cooperation). Following operational structure has been put in place;

- Steering Committee under Chairmanship of Additional Secretary (Coop) & CRCS was constituted for monitoring of progress and implementation of strategy for development of National Cooperative Database. The members of the Committee is from MoC, PMG, NCDC (LINAC), NCUI & AICTE.
- Advisory Committee under Chairmanship of Additional Secretary (Coop) & CRCS was constituted for getting inputs from various stakeholders such as State RCS, National Cooperative Federations and Statutory Bodies (NABARD, NDDDB, NFDB).
- Project Management Group (PMG) was set up under Chief Project Officer and Ex-DDG (NIC) who is responsible for architecting the portal for National Cooperative Database. PMG has designed and developed the software solution and has been spearheading its implementation across states.

Regular meetings of Steering/Advisory Committees and PMG were held to sort out technical & administrative issues, on priority basis, at every stage of database development. Secretary (Cooperation) also reviewed the progress regularly and held frequent meetings with State RCS, National Cooperative Federations & Steering Committee.

2.7 Activities and Funding of Project

- Development of sector-specific Web Forms by software development team for collecting data from Primary to Apex cooperative society.
- Exhaustive repeated training for Data Entry Operators (DEOs) and Nodal Officers at district level.
- Collection of data from District Registrar Offices of State RCS and functional registrars in different sectors through interns/ DEOs.

- Verification and correction of each and every record for all field officials. A module was developed wherein the district nodal officers submitted certificates on completion of verified entries.
- Cross validation of data from State RCS, St.CB, DCCB, NABARD, NDDB, NFDB, NAFSCOB, NCDFI & FISHCOFED.
- Documentation of software application and technical flows, Standardization of Master code, user manual and training manual.
- Development of Analytical Dashboard, MIS Reports, Graphical Presentations, GIS Maps to show coverage under various Cooperatives, Query Based Reports and Multiple Level of User Access through User Management Module.
- The expenditure on procuring hardware & software, engaging IT Professional & Interns/DEOs, etc. for National Cooperative Database has been met through Cooperative Education Fund (CEF).

2.8 Data Collection for Database in Phased Manner

Keeping in view the diverse nature and size of cooperative sector, it was decided to create the database in a phased manner.

Phase-I: Under Phase-I, mapping of about 2.64 lakh primary cooperative societies of three sectors i.e., Primary Agriculture Credit Societies (PACS), Dairy and Fisheries was completed in February, 2023. Under this phase, in addition to staff at district registrar offices services of 560 local interns enrolled on portal of All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) were onboarded for data entries at District Registrar Offices.

Phase-II: Under this Phase, Mapping of National Cooperative Societies/Federations along with their General Body Members was completed. Further, their downward linkages with State Federations, District Unions and Primary Cooperative were also established. The data related to StCB, DCCB, UCB, SCARDB, PCARDB, Sugar Cooperative Mills, State Federations, District Unions and MSCS were collected directly from cooperative societies or through their National/State Federations.

Phase-III: Under this Phase, Ministry of Cooperation initiated the process of extending the National Cooperative Database to remaining more than 5 lakh cooperative societies working in all other sectors, through the office of RCSs of State/UTs. Almost all States/UTs have completed data entry under National Cooperative Database.

By November 2023, the data of around 8 lakh primary cooperative societies has been uploaded on the National Cooperative Database by the nodal officers of States/UTs. The total number of members engaged in these cooperative societies are around 29,12,80,275.

2.9 Linkage with other Databases

A central project has been formulated for the automation of cooperative registration and management processes in the offices of the Registrar of Cooperative Society of States/ UTs. The process has been initiated to have API-based linkages of the software system that is being developed for use at state and district-level registrar offices with the National Cooperative Database (NCD). This will ensure the real-time updating of data on the National Cooperative Database about registration of any new cooperative society as well as updation of other data items in respect of existing cooperative societies.

NCD, being centralized platform of all sectors of cooperatives, depending on the sectoral parameters, it is important to create live linkages with other databases of central departments and state IT systems which will help in seamless updation of data on respective sectoral activities to build analytical layers for planning purpose.

Salient Features of NCD Portal

Salient Features of NCD Portal

National Cooperative Database is a web based online system to capture information about registered Cooperative Societies from State/UT and District Registrar offices for data pertaining to multiple sectors of Cooperative Societies, Federations, Cooperative Banks etc.

The Portal is an initiative to set up the information and communication channel between Central Ministry and all State/UT and is helpful for every stakeholder associated with cooperative domain. On NCD portal contact details like name, address, phone number and email of all Societies are available for communication between Government and Societies. Trends in data and comparison on various parameters has been presented through query-based reports and dashboard.

The portal has been developed with the following objectives:

Easy access to Information: NCD portal provides easy access to a wide range of information about Cooperatives in the country, working under different sectors, on one click.

Login base access to the Stakeholders to get the details of Cooperative Societies.

User can view the details of Cooperative Societies as shown in below pic.

Improved Data-Driven Decision-Making: The Portal offers a range of reporting and query modules that enable the users to generate filter-based reports. This is invaluable for monitoring and evaluation, as it empowers stakeholders with data-driven insights.

Analytical Dashboard, Reports, Search & Filters

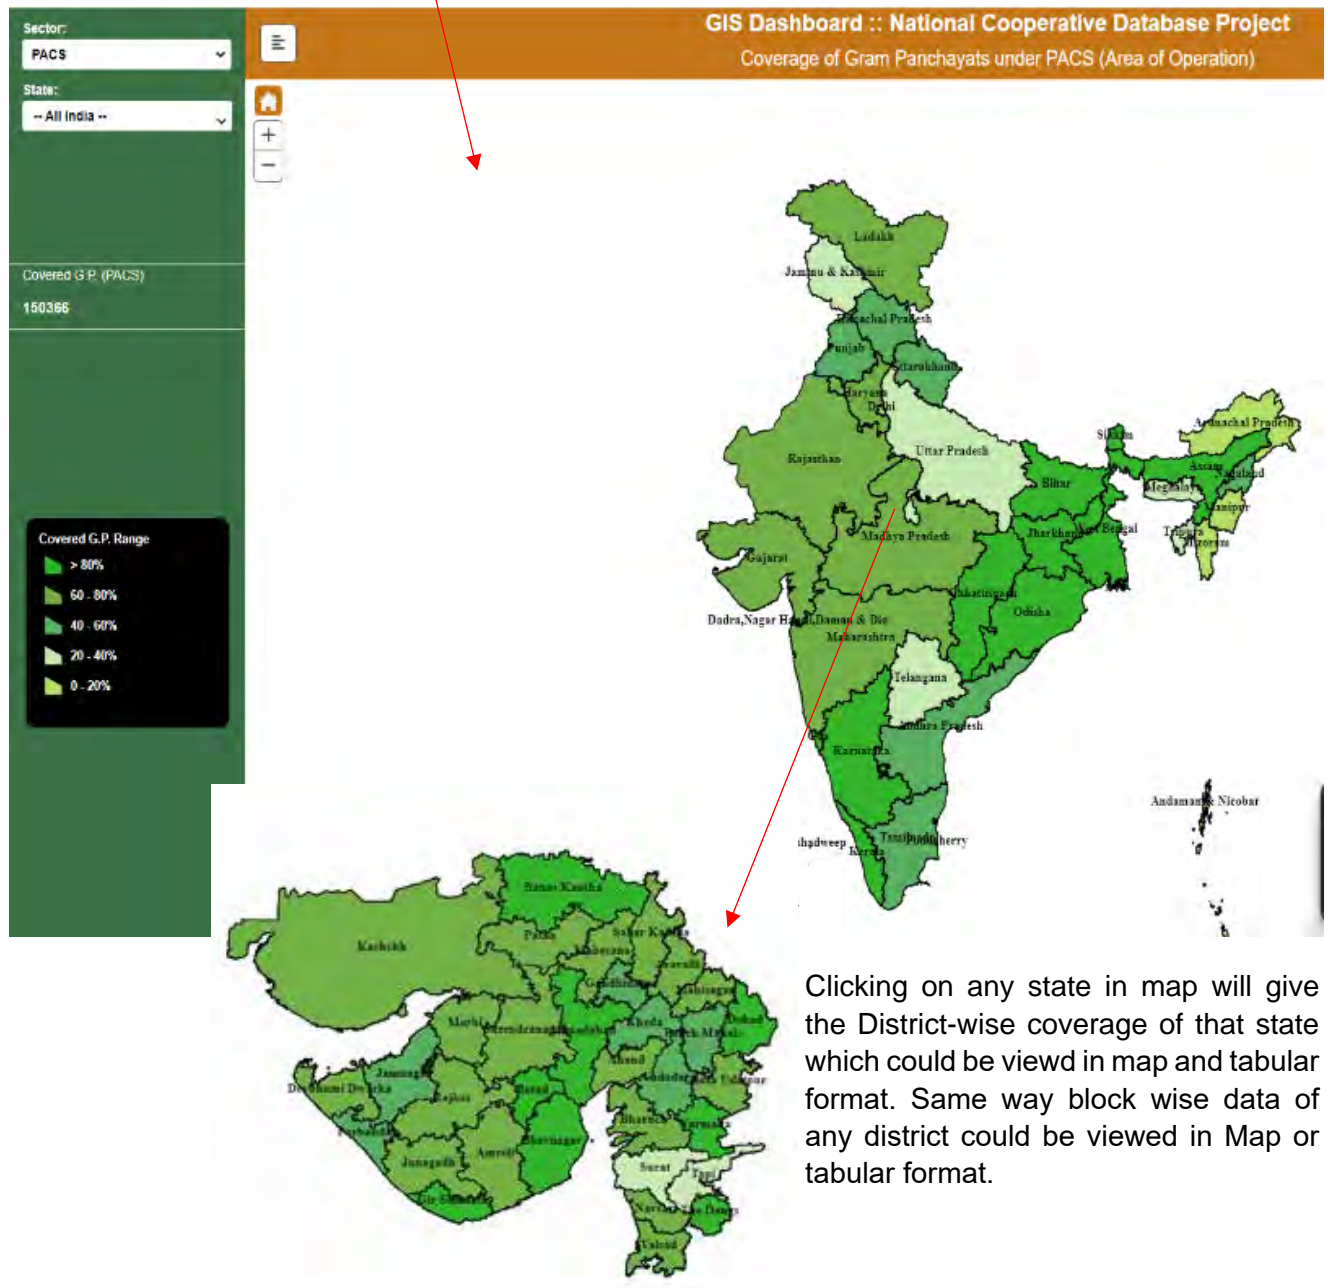

- There are Multiple options to filter the data using the search option
- Data could be filtered on Sector of Operation, Primary activity, State, District, and functional status
- Data of Cooperative societies can be filtered out in Societies list, Pie Chart and Map

Maps showing geographical spread of Cooperative Societies to identify gaps of coverage in Gram Panchayats and Villages: The NCD portal can be used to identify areas where there is a shortage of cooperatives. This information can be used to develop targeted interventions to promote the formation of new cooperatives in these areas.

Addressing Credit Gap: By analyzing the financial data of cooperative societies, policymakers and financial institutions can pinpoint areas where there is an unmet demand for credit. This insight can facilitate the development of targeted financial products and schemes to bridge these credit gaps, ensuring that cooperative societies have the necessary financial resources to thrive and expand.

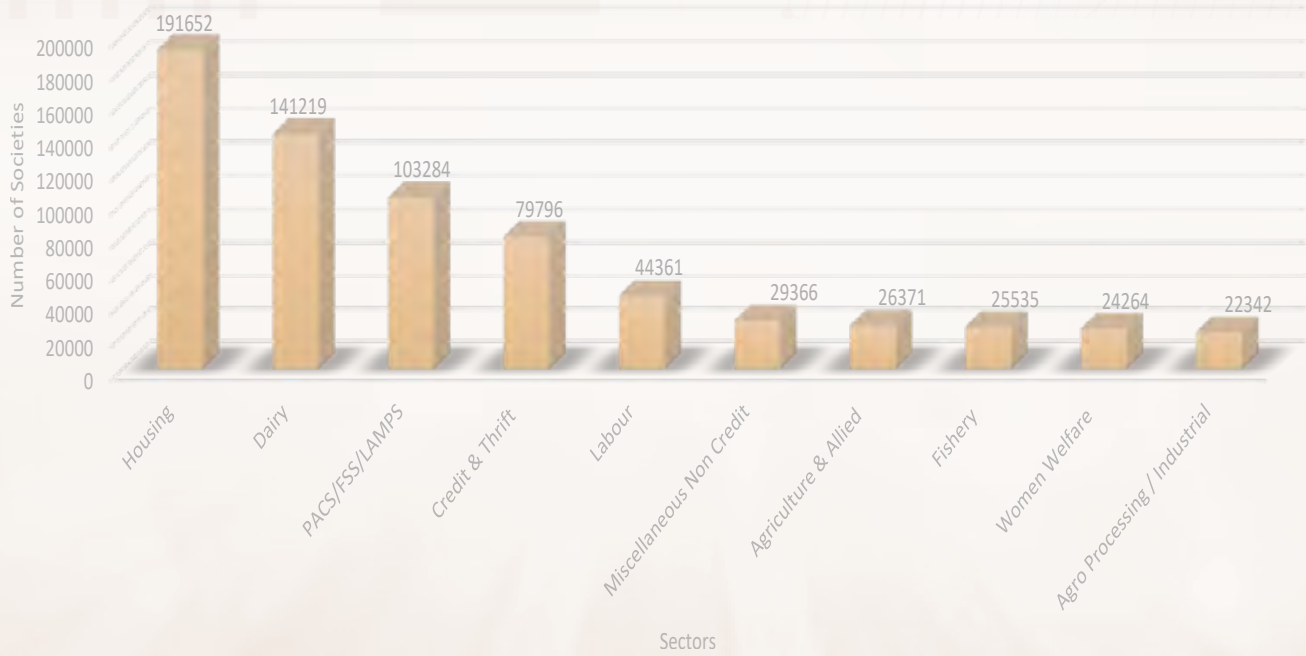

Networking: Cooperatives can connect with each other to share best practices, resources, or collaborate on joint projects.

Funding Opportunities: External investors or Government entities can use the database to identify cooperatives that are performing well and might be worthy of investment or financial support.

Training and Development: Identification of areas where cooperatives may lack expertise or resources can lead to targeted training and capacity-building initiatives.

Sector-wise Cooperatives

Sector-wise Cooperatives

A. Credit Sector

Collectives, including cooperatives, mandate their members to pool in surplus money for onward lending to borrower members. Some of these adhere to the principle of self-help where the products and services are used entirely by their members. Emerging collectives, including credit cooperatives, carry out bulk of their business with non-members. Credit Cooperatives – both banks and credit societies—are the lifeline for all economic activities of members. A strong urban and rural cooperative banking and credit sector can play a catalytic role for growth of cooperatives in various segments of economy.

Cooperative banks are basically cooperative societies which are registered under the Cooperative Societies Act of the State concerned or under the Multi-State Cooperative Societies (Amendment) Act, 2023. While cooperative societies functioning within a single state are governed by Cooperative Societies Act of their respective state, cooperative societies functioning in more than one State/ UT are governed by Multi-State Cooperative Societies (Amendment) Act, 2023 under the purview of Government of India. When cooperative societies carry on the business of banking, they come under the regulatory purview of RBI and they are licensed under the provisions of the Banking Regulation Act.

The cooperative banking structure in India was developed to complement and supplement the commercial banking structure, with a specific focus on serving the requirements of marginalised borrowers and meeting the development needs of rural as well as urban areas. Urban Cooperative Banks (UCBs) are classified as scheduled and non-scheduled, based on their inclusion or otherwise in the second schedule of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, and their geographical outreach (single-state or multi-state). Rural cooperatives are segregated by their lending activity, i.e., into short-term vis-à-vis long-term lending. Rural credit short-term credits are channelled through StCB, DCCBs and PACS. Rural long-term credits are disbursed through SCARDBs and PCARDBs.

A1. Rural Credit: Short-Term Credit

4.1 Primary Agriculture Credit Societies

Primary Agriculture Credit Societies (PACS) constitute the lowest tier of the Short-Term Cooperative Credit Structure (STCCS) in the country, primarily providing short-term and medium-term credit facility and other input services, like seed, fertilizer, pesticide distribution, etc. to member farmers. PACS are refinanced by NABARD through District Central Cooperative Banks (DCCBs) and State Cooperative Banks (StCBs). Being the grassroots level cooperative institutions, PACS play a crucial role in sustaining the rural economy of the country by purveying institutional credit to small and marginal farmers.

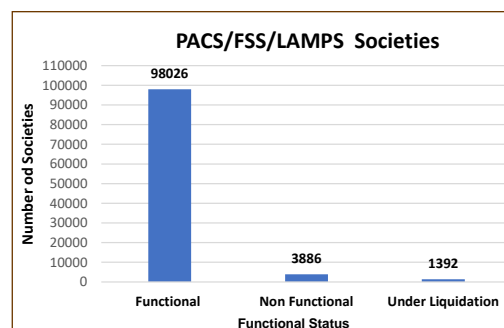

PACS are governed by the Cooperative Acts of their respective states and guided by State Bye-laws. They engage directly with rural (agricultural) borrowers, extending loans, overseeing loan repayments, and managing marketing and distribution functions.

Notably, the National Cooperative Database (NCD) portal records the presence of 1,03,304 PACS in the country, with around 95% (i.e., 98,486) of them are being functional in rural areas. Significantly, the growth of PACS has been substantial, expanding from approximately 2,982 PACS in 1900-1923 to 14,391 PACS in 2011-2023. Maharashtra has the highest number of PACS (21,059) followed by Gujarat (10,266) and Bihar (8,476). Kerala boasts the highest number of members (2,56,28,261), trailed by Bihar (1,36,29,113) and Tamil Nadu (1,33,39,395). Around 78% PACS (78,489) are affiliated with Federations/ Unions. Out of total 2,69,503 gram panchayats, around 89% (i.e., 2,41,075) panchayats are covered under PACS.

Importantly, strengthening PACS involves enhancing their capacity and effectiveness to provide a spectrum of services to farmers and rural communities beyond credit and financial services. Governments and stakeholders aim to uplift rural communities, improve the overall state of agriculture, and foster inclusive economic growth by reinforcing PACS. These efforts will contribute towards reducing poverty, ensuring food security, and promoting sustainable development in agrarian economies.

4.2 District Central Cooperative Banks (DCCBs)

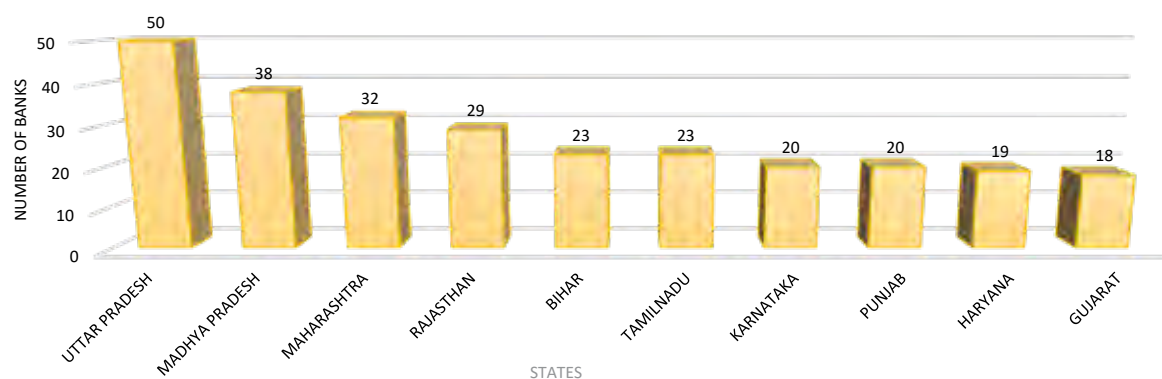

The cooperative movement in our country can be traced to ancient India and the Cooperative Banks, as we know of them today, are more than a century old. These banks were one of the first sources of institutional credit to the farmers in our country. Banks are unique in the sense that their functioning is inherently driven by values viz. equality, open and voluntary association, democracy, mutual support, self-reliance, non-exploitative operations etc. which are mostly absent in other forms of credit institutions.

District Central Cooperative Banks (DCCBs) stand at the second tier in the Short-Term Cooperative Credit Structure (STCCS) having State Cooperative Banks (StCBs) at the State/ Apex level and Primary Agriculture Credit Cooperative Societies (PACS) at the village level.

DCCBs come under the regulatory purview of RBI through Banking Regulation, Act, 1949 (AACS). As per National Cooperative Database, there are 338 District Central Cooperative Banks (DCCBs) functioning across 19 States/UTs.

4.3 State Cooperative Bank (SCBs)

A State's three-tier rural cooperative credit structure consists of State Cooperative Banks (StCBs), District Central Cooperative Banks (DCCBs), and Primary Agricultural Credit Societies (PACS), which concentrate on agricultural and rural development. State cooperative banks are the apex institutions in this structure.

The National Cooperative Database (NCD) records the presence of 32 registered State Cooperative Banks in the country except for 5 States/UTs namely Haryana, Ladakh, Lakshadweep, Manipur, and Dadra and Nagar Haveli and Daman and Diu. These cooperative banks offer a comprehensive range of services, from savings accounts to agricultural loans, actively supporting priority sectors and contributing to the well-being of local communities. With a clear mandate to promote financial inclusion and bolster essential sectors like agriculture and small-scale industries, cooperative banks remain instrumental in fostering economic growth and meeting the diverse needs of India's population.

A2. Rural Credit: Long-Term Credit

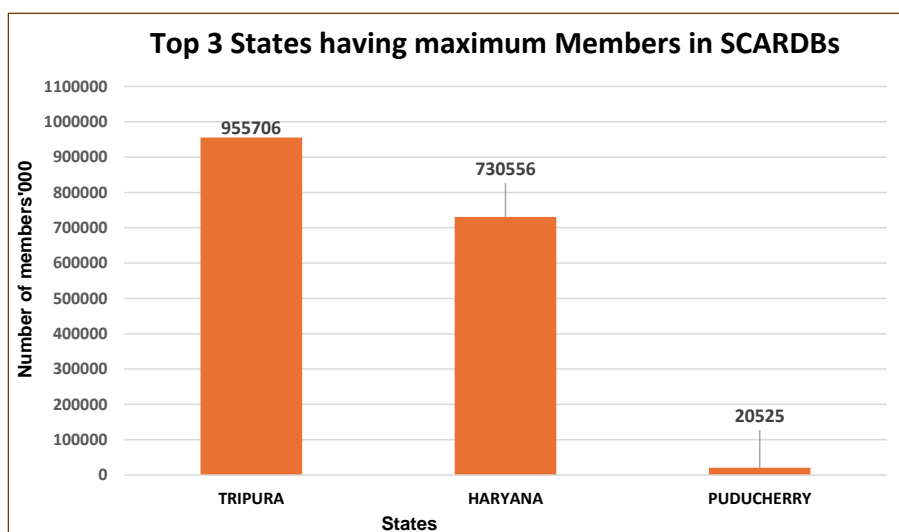

4.4 State Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Banks (SCARDBs)

Long-term rural credit cooperatives were established for providing funds for investment in agriculture – including land development, farm mechanisation and minor irrigation - rural industries and housing. This structure consists of 14 State Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Banks (SCARDBs) operating at the state level and 533 Primary Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Banks (PCARDBs) operating at the district/block level.

The structure of long-term rural credit cooperatives differs across states. States like Jammu and Kashmir, Tripura, Uttar Pradesh, Gujarat and Puducherry follow a unitary structure i.e., SCARDBs operate through their own branches with no separate PCARDBs. On the other hand, states like Haryana, Punjab, Rajasthan, Karnataka, Kerala, and Tamil Nadu follow a federal structure wherein SCARDBs lend through PCARDBs. In two states viz., Himachal Pradesh and West Bengal, SCARDBs operate through PCARDBs as well as through their own branches.

The business model of SCARDBs and PCARDBs depends heavily on borrowings; the former borrow from institutions such as NABARD for direct lending as well as lending through PCARDBs. The financial health of PCARDBs is, however, more fragile than SCARDBs, given the high share of accumulated losses on their balance sheets.

4.5 Primary Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Banks (PCARDBs)

Long-term rural credit cooperatives were established for providing funds for investment in agriculture – including land development, farm mechanisation and minor irrigation – rural industries and housing. This structure consists of State Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Banks (SCARDBs) operating at the state level and Primary Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Banks (PCARDBs) operating at the district/block level. There are 533 PCARDBs operating in 8 states, with highest number of PCARDBs in Karnataka (181) followed by Tamil Nadu (176).

A3. Urban Credit

4.6 Credit and Thrift Societies

Credit and Thrift Societies are member-driven financial institutions registered under the Cooperative Societies Act of various states in India. They play a very significant role in meeting credit needs of poor and marginalized sections of the society. They offer customized loan products and repayment schedules based on members' needs and income levels and foster a sense of community and social responsibility among members.

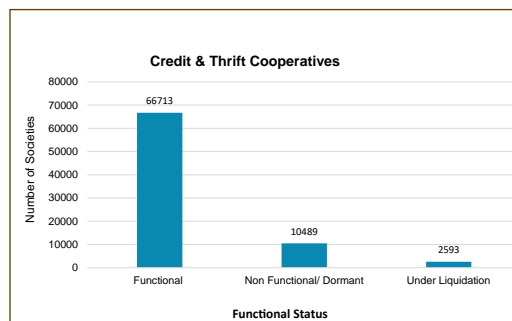

In India, there are 79,795 primary credit and thrift societies in 34 States, except for Ladakh and Kerala, with 4.32 crore members. Out of 79,795 societies, 66,713 societies are functional, 10,489 are dormant and 2,593 are under liquidation. Around 56% societies i.e., 44,404 are operating in urban areas and the remaining 35,391 societies are operating in rural areas. Telangana and Maharashtra have the maximum number of credit and thrift societies. Approximately 55% of the total primary credit and thrift societies are operating in these two states alone. The remaining 45% of the societies are operating in 32 states. Telangana state has the highest number of societies i.e., 24,020 with a membership base of 47.77 lakh followed by Maharashtra which has 20,337 societies with 2.27 crore members.

The core functions of these societies are:

- Thrift: Encouraging members to save regularly through deposits, often with attractive interest rates compared to traditional savings accounts.
- Credit: Providing loans to members for various purposes like education, medical expenses, business ventures, or agricultural needs, often at lower interest rates than commercial banks.
- Other Services: Many societies offer additional services like micro-insurance, money transfers, and financial literacy programs.

State Cooperative Federation plays a crucial role in promoting economic cooperation among various cooperative societies within a state. It acts as an umbrella organization, providing support, guidance, and coordination to diverse cooperative ventures. Through the federation, smaller cooperatives can benefit from collective strength in areas such as marketing, finance, and training. It facilitates resource pooling, enhancing the overall efficiency and sustainability of cooperative initiatives. Ultimately, State Cooperative Federations contribute to the socio-economic development of the region by fostering collaboration and empowerment at the grassroots level. In India there are 160 State Federations. State-wise list of Federations is given in the table below:

4.7 Urban Cooperative Banks (UCBs)

Urban Cooperative Banks are primarily localised financial service providers that have been in operation for more than a century. The term Urban Cooperative Banks (UCBs), though not formally defined, refers to primary cooperative banks located in urban and semi-urban areas. UCBs are classified as scheduled and non-scheduled, based on their inclusion or otherwise in the Second Schedule of the Reserve Bank of India Act of 1934, and their geographical outreach (single-state or multi-state). Ministry of Cooperation, in coordination with the Reserve Bank, has initiated reforms to strengthen the cooperative banking structure. The vision guiding the framework is to consolidate their position as friendly neighbourhood banks by catering to the heterogeneity in the customer base, while offering more operational flexibility to strong UCBs in order to enhance their contribution to credit intermediation

Over a period of 120 years of their existence, Urban Cooperative Banks are successfully serving the society and meeting banking needs of their customers and members. Being local banks, they are the preferred friendly “Neighbourhood banks of Choice” as they provide doorstep banking services to their customers. The National Cooperative Database (NCD) records 1,335 Urban Cooperative Banks in the country. Around 63% of these banks are located in 3 states namely Maharashtra, Karnataka and Gujarat. The State of Maharashtra tops the list with 428 banks having 60,21,811 members, followed by Karnataka (279) having 23,35,863 members and Gujarat (187) having 14,91,531 members.

In view of their importance in providing credit to the poor and weaker sections of the society, the RBI is giving focused attention for strengthening the sector. The Hon’ble Minister of Home and Cooperation, Shri Amit Shah has given a vision to have one UCB in each town of India, so that these UCBs can meet growing credit needs of MSMEs and help in economic growth of the country.

4.8 Dairy

The Dairy Cooperatives in India has experienced a remarkable growth, positioning the country as the global leader in dairy production. On a significant note, the dairy cooperative model has emerged as a pivotal force in boosting the nation's economy. The sector predominantly driven by smallholder farmers is overseen at the National level by the key organizations like the National Dairy Development Board (NDDB) and the National Cooperative Dairy Federation of India (NCDFI).

NDDB, founded in 1965 under Dr. Verghese Kurien (the milkman of India), spearheaded transformative initiatives such as the White Revolution and Operation Flood, fostering dairy cooperatives, improving milk production, and empowering farmers through a cooperative model. This involved the introduction of modern technologies, infrastructure development, and robust marketing strategies. The NCDFI, on the other hand, is a National Federation of Cooperative Dairies that coordinates, networks, and advocates for the working of these cooperatives.

Structured in a multi-tier system, the dairy cooperatives feature a vast membership, including over 1.5 crore farmers, with significant female representation. Across India's 36 states/union territories (UTs), there are 1,41,221 dairy cooperatives. Among these, 1,00,844 are functional, 30,166 are non-functional, and 10,211 are in the process of liquidation. Most dairy cooperatives (1,37,507) are operational in the rural areas, while only 3,714 cooperatives have their presence in urban areas. The dairy sector collectively boasts a membership of 1,56,55,580 individuals. Around 30% gram panchayats i.e., 81,566 out of 2,69,503 gram panchayats are covered under Dairy cooperatives. Karnataka leads in the number of dairy cooperatives with 17,514, followed by Gujarat (16,319) and Maharashtra (13,533). Gujarat also stands out with the highest membership count of 36,37,966 followed by Karnataka with 32,37,337 members. Currently, around 72.3% (i.e., 1,02,003) dairy cooperatives are affiliated with federation, or union.

The diversification of dairy products, including butter, ghee, cheese, yogurt, and milk powder, has increased income for both cooperatives and farmers and enhanced the sector's competitiveness. To meet domestic and international market demands, concerted efforts are underway to improve dairy products' quality and safety standards. Dairy cooperatives have embraced technological advancements such as bulk milk coolers and automated milking machines to enhance the efficiency of collection, processing, and distribution.

The outlook for the cooperative dairy sector is promising, driven by the rising demand for dairy products and a strategic focus on digitalization and e-commerce to achieve further operational efficiency and reach a broader consumer base. Intriguingly, the Cooperative Dairy sector stands as a fundamental pillar of India's Dairy industry, contributing to economic growth and serving as an exemplary model for sustainable agricultural development.

4.9 Fishery

The fisheries industry in India exhibits considerable diversity, encompassing inland, marine, and brackish water, as well as ornamental and cold-water fisheries. The inception of the fishery cooperatives movement dates to 1913 with the establishment of the 'Karla Machhimar Cooperative Society' in Maharashtra. Significantly, the Fishery sector plays a vital role in the Indian economy, by supporting the livelihoods of fishers and fish farmers.

To bolster the Indian economy through the fisheries sector, the Pradhan Mantri Matsya Sampada Yojana (PMMSY) was launched in 2019-20 by the Ministry of Fisheries, Animal Husbandry, and Dairying. In 2018-19, a dedicated fund, i.e., the Fisheries & Aquaculture Infrastructure Development Fund (FIDF) of ₹ 2,552 crore was established. The initiation of the Blue Revolution, 2014 aimed to increase fish production and develop infrastructure within the fisheries sector. The Ministry of Cooperation's formation prioritizes fisheries cooperatives, with plans to organize them in each panchayat.

The apex cooperative organization for developing the Fishery cooperatives movement in India is the National Federation of Fishers' Cooperatives Ltd. (FISHCOPFED), registered in 1980. It is dedicated to empowering fisheries cooperatives and is affiliated with international bodies.

As per National Cooperative Database (NCD) portal, India has 25,535 primary fishery societies with nearly 46.73 lakh fishers as members, including exclusive fisherwomen cooperative societies. Telangana has the highest number of fishery cooperative societies (4,985) followed by Maharashtra (3,403). Notably, NCD depicts coverage of 25,061 gram panchayats under fishery cooperatives and 10,471 fishery cooperatives are affiliated with banks, unions, or federations.

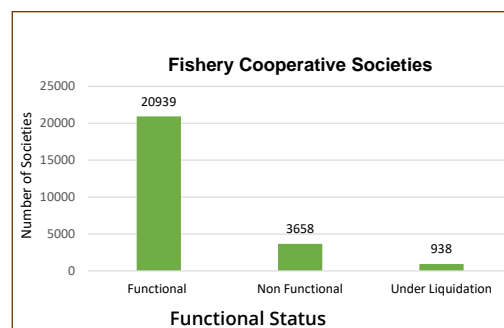

The fishery cooperative sector significantly enhances vulnerable groups' livelihoods, nutritional status, and social security, benefiting around 4 million people in India. The Government of India is committed to supporting the sector through policies, financial aid, and promoting sustainable value chains.

4.10 Agriculture and Allied

Agriculture is the backbone of the economies of developing countries like India. Agriculture sector contributes around 18.3% towards the Gross Domestic Product (GDP). It also provides employment opportunities to about 44% of the working force. The sectors allied to the agriculture sector are fishery, horticulture, animal husbandry, dairy farming, poultry and milk production. Any changes in the agriculture sector have a large effect on the country's economy. The biggest industries like textiles, food processing, milk, jute, and sugar all depend on agriculture to obtain the raw material.

In India, there are 26,375 Primary Agriculture and Allied Cooperatives, 4 State Level Federations, 33 District Level Federations (Regional level federations are included) and 26 Block/Taluka/Mandal Level Federations with total membership of 98,07,968. Out of total cooperatives, 16,857 are functional, 7,498 are non-functional/dormant and 2,020 are under liquidation process. Around 89% of the cooperatives (23,378) have their presence in rural areas and the remaining 11% (2,997) cooperatives are registered in urban areas. Major Agriculture and Allied States with highest number of registered cooperatives are Gujarat (6,617), Madhya Pradesh (3,725) and Maharashtra (3,473). Uttar Pradesh State has the highest number of members (56,43,958) followed by Maharashtra (9,93,005).

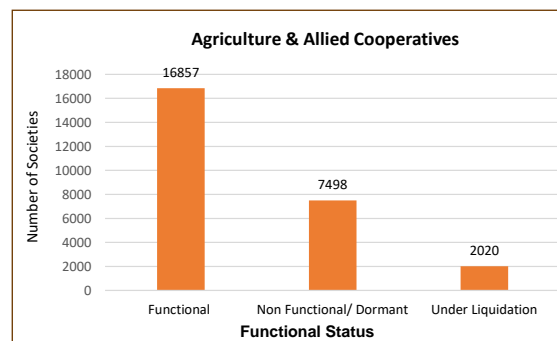

Apart from a significant contribution to the country's GDP, agriculture and allied sectors provide raw materials to the industrial sector and serve as market for industrial products. Through the export of goods produced by the agriculture and allied sectors, foreign currency is earned.

4.11 Labour

Labour Cooperatives work for giving employment to the group of labourers. Generally, a greater number of labours are required for construction of buildings, roads, factories and dams. Cooperative labour societies eliminate the middlemen and thus save labour from exploitation.

The evolution of labour cooperatives in India has become a significant force in driving economic development, particularly in sectors like agriculture, handicrafts, handloom, and small-scale industries. These cooperatives, regulated by the Multi-State Cooperative Societies (Amendment) Act. of 2023 and the state-specific Cooperative Societies Act, embody the principles of democratic ownership and decision-making, where workers have equal stakes and actively participate in significant decisions through one-member, one-vote system. Government support, including various schemes and programs, is directed towards encouraging the formation and growth of cooperatives as tools for social inclusion and economic empowerment.

As per the National Cooperative Database (NCD), there are 44,362 registered labour cooperatives with 14,85,006 members. Currently, 28,096 societies are functional, 11,544 are non-functional, and 4,722 are under liquidation. The urban and rural areas have 15,668 and 28,694 cooperatives respectively. Around 16.8% (7,452) societies are affiliated with federations/unions. Maharashtra leads in the number of cooperatives (11,271), followed by Haryana (9,508) and Telangana (4,296). Maharashtra also tops the list in terms of registered members (3,77,237), followed by Gujarat (3,43,332) and Haryana (1,49,158). There are 4 state level federations, 56 district level federations and 2 regional level federations.

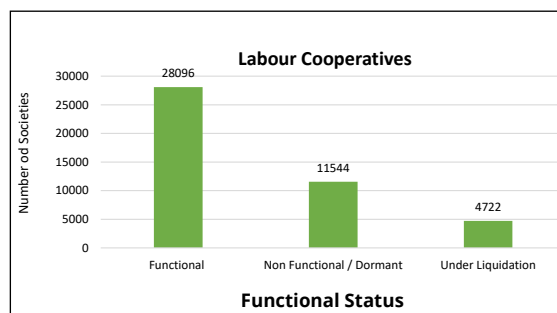

Notably, Labour Cooperatives are pivotal in addressing socio-economic challenges, emphasizing collective ownership, democratic decision-making, and equitable benefits among workers. However, their growth faces constraints such as limited access to finance, management issues, and competition from conventional business models.

4.12 Sugar Mills Cooperatives

India has emerged as the world's largest producer and consumer of sugar. The National Federation of Cooperative Sugar Factories Limited (NFCSF) was established in 1960 to coordinate and facilitate the working of the affiliated Cooperative Sugar Factories and State Cooperative Sugar Federations.

There are 281 primary cooperative societies registered under this sector across 17 States/UTs in the country. Of these, 216 cooperatives have their presence in rural areas and the remaining 65 cooperatives are in urban areas. The state of Maharashtra has the highest number of sugar cooperative societies i.e., 94 followed by Bihar and Karnataka having 35 societies each. The societies in Maharashtra are serving to more than 16 lakh members while the societies in Uttar Pradesh and Karnataka are serving to around 9.5 lakh and 5.4 lakh members respectively.

The contribution of the cooperative sugar factories in country's total sugar production is quite significant. Cooperative sugar sector annually pays thousands of crores to the sugar cane growers towards cane payment. The cooperative sugar factories have more than 50% share in the total sugar export of the country thereby earning foreign exchange.

4.13 Housing

The Cooperative Housing Society is an autonomous institution, an association of persons legally who are united voluntarily to meet their common economic, social, and cultural needs. Its objective is to work for its members, like purchasing lands to construct the residential buildings for their members. Housing units that have been facilitated by housing cooperatives have certain unique features. Not only they are planned developments but they also provide various infrastructure supports such as local shopping centres, community centres, banks, parks, playgrounds, schools, etc., thereby subscribing to the development of integrated and sustainable human settlements.

The grass-roots level primary housing cooperatives are affiliated to the State level “Apex Cooperative Housing Federations (ACHFs)” which are functioning in various States and Union Territories. The National Cooperative Housing Federation of India (NCHF), set up in the year 1969, is the umbrella organization of cooperative housing movement and engaged in promoting, coordinating and facilitating the operations of the ACHFs and housing cooperatives to enable them to provide affordable houses to their members.

The Housing Cooperative in India is a strong, noble and popular movement which has witnessed mass participation over the years. The National Cooperative Database projects the total number of Housing Cooperative Societies in the country as 1,91,657 having a total membership of 1,47,06,694. Around 92% (1,76,224) societies are operating in urban areas. The state of Maharashtra has the highest number of cooperatives i.e., 1,25,886 followed by Gujarat (29,363) and West Bengal (6,729). Maharashtra state has the highest number of members 70,90,973 followed by Tamil Nadu having 19,84,745 members. There are 13 state level federations, 23 district level federations and 8 block/taluka/mandal level federations.

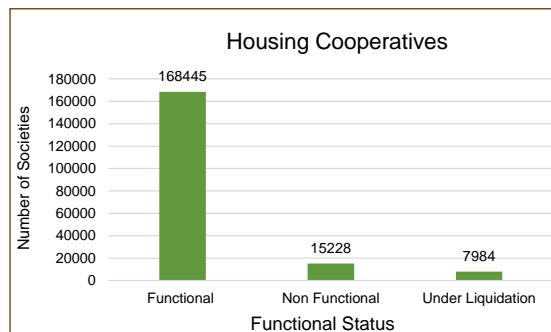

The key feature of housing cooperatives is constructing low cost and affordable houses. Further, houses constructed through housing cooperatives comply with the requirement of local building regulations. The essence of the cooperative movement lies in the fact that the people themselves look after the management of their affairs concerning economic betterment and social welfare.

4.15 Marketing

Cooperative marketing organizations are associations of producers for the collective marketing of their produce and for securing for the members the advantages that result from large-scale business which an individual cultivator cannot secure because of his small marketable surplus. These cooperatives are a cooperative business model where members pool their resources, such as crops, livestock, or other agricultural products, and work together to improve their bargaining power in the marketplace. This aggregated volume allows the cooperatives to negotiate better terms with buyers, processors, or distributors.

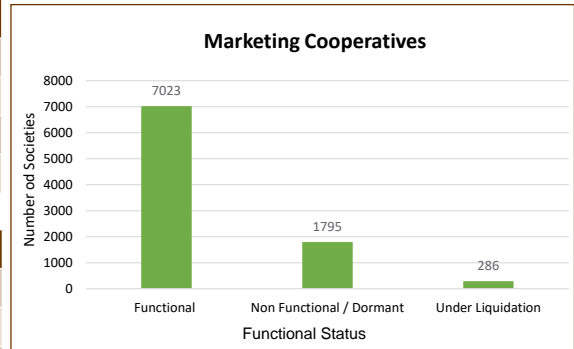

Marketing Cooperatives provide farmers with improved access to markets that may be difficult for individual producers to reach. This is especially important for small-scale farmers who may not have the resources to market and distribute their products independently. By combining their resources and operations, members of a marketing cooperative can benefit from economies of scale.

National Cooperative Database provides the number of Marketing Cooperative Societies presently registered in the country as 9,104 with a total membership of 46,35,383. Out of which, 7023 marketing cooperatives are functional, 1,795 are non-functional, and 286 are under liquidation. Currently, Uttar Pradesh has the highest number of Marketing Cooperatives (1,791), followed by Gujarat (1712) and Maharashtra (990). Tamil Nadu has the highest number of members i.e., 9,24,669 followed by Maharashtra (6,74,057) and Karnataka (5,41,004). There are 14 state level federations and 63 district level federations (includes regional federations).

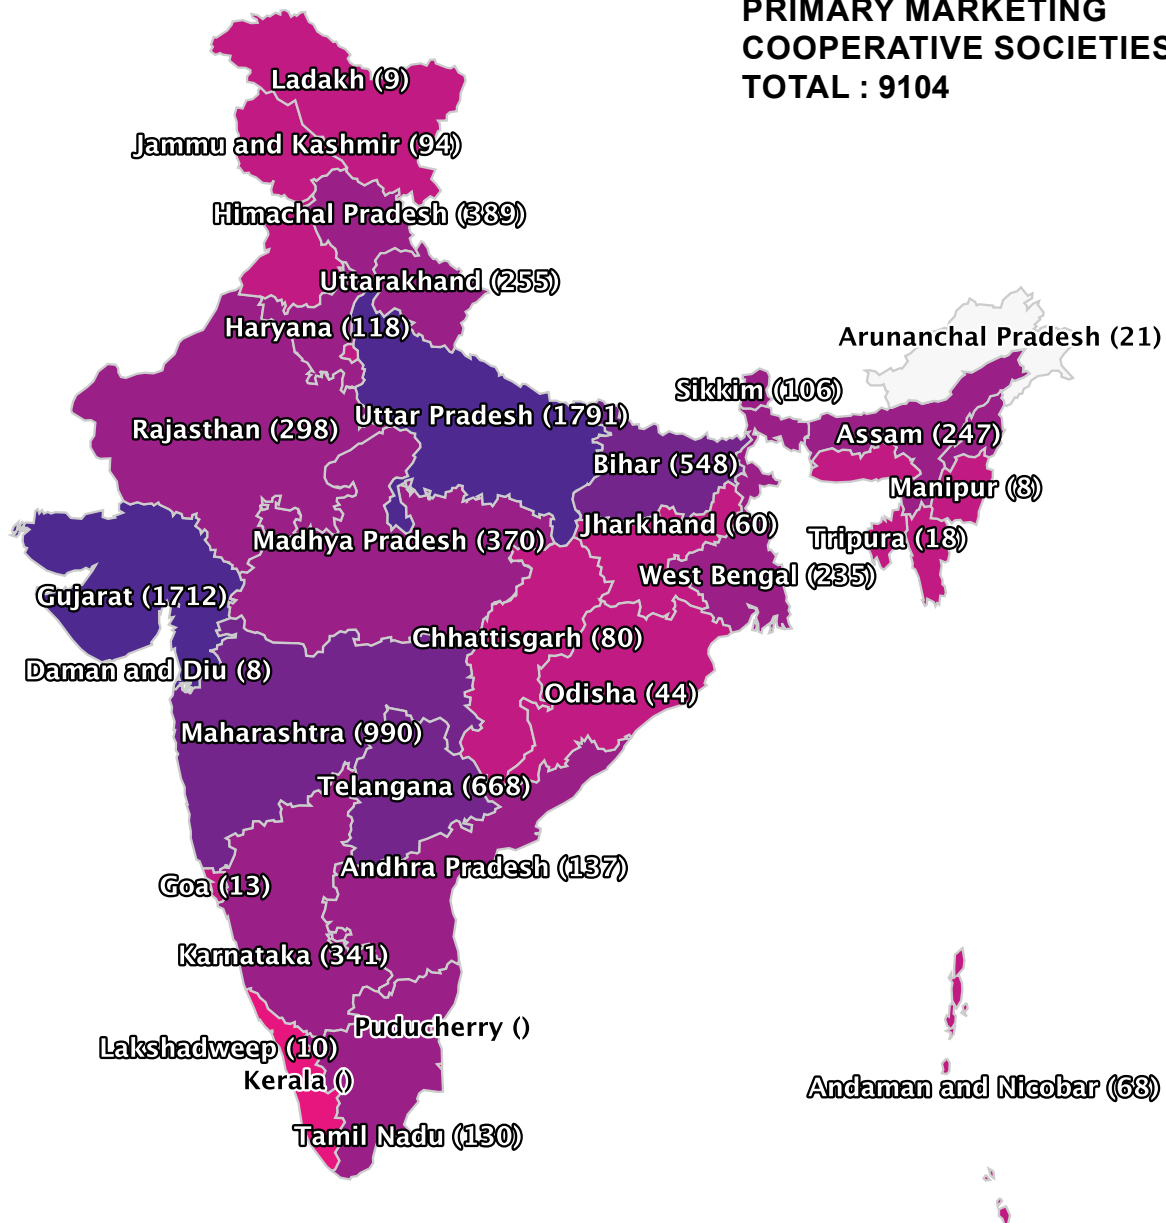

Marketing Cooperatives play a multifaceted role in boosting the Indian economy, particularly in the agricultural sector, by enhancing market access, reducing risks, promoting value addition, and empowering farmers. The collective strength of these cooperatives contributes to a more sustainable and inclusive agricultural economy.

Andhra Pradesh

There are two Acts in existence pertaining to the regulation of the Cooperatives in Andhra Pradesh out of which A.P. Cooperative Societies Act VII of 1964 is the older Act, the provisions of this act are considered necessary for such cooperatives which are dependent on the support from the Government and consequential intervention in the governance. However, even this Act has been substantially amended in the year 2001, duly aiming at promoting the cooperatives in accordance with the principles of cooperation and at reducing the Government control to some extent.

The second Act is A.P. Mutually Aided Cooperative Societies (MACS) Act of 1995, which aims at promoting self-reliant, responsible, accountable and autonomous Cooperative Societies with their own Bye-laws, which would make the Cooperative Movement more vibrant.

As per data available on National Cooperative Database, there are 17,659 Primary Cooperative Societies, 12 Multi-State Cooperatives, 9 State Federations and 13 District Cooperative Banks in the state of Andhra Pradesh. About 13,556 primary cooperatives are functional and notably, majority (about 80%) of primary cooperatives are registered in rural areas. Anantapur and SPSR Nellore districts have the maximum number of primary cooperatives. There are 2,135 fishery cooperatives, 2,047 PACS, 1,627 livestock and poultry cooperatives, 1,527 labour cooperatives and 812 dairy cooperatives. Importantly, 2,047 PACS are having 67,27,240 members i.e., around 70% of total members, whereas fisheries membership is only 2,73,902 i.e., only 2.8% of the total number of cooperative members in the state.

Arunachal Pradesh

Arunachal Pradesh is basically an agrarian state, 66% of the total working population is engaged in agriculture and other allied activities. Initially, the State had adopted the Cooperative Societies Act, 1912. Subsequently, State enacted its own Law "The Arunachal Pradesh Cooperative Societies Act, 1978 and Arunachal Pradesh Cooperative Societies Rules, 1982". At present all the cooperative societies are registered in the State of Arunachal Pradesh under the said Act and are governed under the provisions of the Arunachal Pradesh Cooperative Societies Act, 1978 and Arunachal Pradesh Cooperative Societies Rules, 1982 made thereunder. The State Government has chosen cooperative institutions as a means to overcome the prevailing difficulties and were assigned with full responsibilities for implementation of Public Distribution System (PDS) from the early 1980s. The Cooperative Movement proved its worthiness by successful implementation of PDS in the state which was rated as best in the country during 1990.

The total number of Primary Cooperative Societies functioning in 25 districts is 1,166 having a total membership of 87,549. The number of Multipurpose Cooperative Societies and Agriculture & Allied Societies are 468 and 172 respectively which have made these sectors most prominent in the State. Papum Pare district has the highest number of Multipurpose Cooperative Societies (240) and Kurung Kumey district has the highest number of Agriculture & Allied Societies (67). Handloom Textile & Weavers Cooperatives are catering to the highest number of members (31,657) through 57 societies.

The State Government is planning to promote the Cooperatives in Tourism and Education sectors as well. The cooperatives have now started to provide Home-Stay facilities for the tourist and to show case the traditional way of life and provide local food and drinks (Specially in the Ziro valley of Lower Subansiri District and Tawang District). Rural areas are deprived of good and proper education. Education cooperative societies are being promoted to impart quality education to the students with reasonable amount of admission and tuition fees in the state of Arunachal Pradesh. These cooperative schools also impart computer education in rural areas.

Himachal Pradesh

The first H.P. Cooperative Societies Act, enacted in 1956. Prior to this, Cooperative Societies were registered under the Cooperative Societies Registration Act, 1912. With the reorganization of Himachal Pradesh State in 1966, four more hilly districts namely, Kangra, Kullu, Lahual Spiti and Shimla were formed. Simultaneously on 1st September, 1972 two more districts viz Hamirpur and Una were created out of Kangra District and Solan also named as a district dropping Mahasu District. Reorganization of the State paved the way to enact H.P. Cooperative Societies Act 1968, as most of the Societies in the new merged area were of unlimited liabilities as such H.P. Cooperative Societies Rules, 1971 were also framed by the Government for strengthening the Cooperative movement in the State.

Himachal Pradesh's cooperative sector has shown remarkable progress, with a total of 5099 registered cooperative societies. Sector-wise report show that there are 2,203 Primary Agricultural Credit Societies (PACS), 467 societies in Dairy, 73 in Fishery, and 389 Primary Marketing Cooperative Societies. PACS have the highest number of members (13,51,437) among all the sectors and act as a backbone of the cooperative network, providing vital financial services, credit support, and investment avenues to the rural population. In the span 1951-1970, a spike can be seen in the registration of PACS. 3712 PACS have been registered in this span which makes around 61% of the total PACS existing today. The widespread presence of PACS contributes to agricultural development, ensuring timely access to credit and other resources for farmers. Kangra district is prominent district as it has highest societies (1,009) and highest members (5,18,113). There are 4,287 functional societies, 607 non-functional societies and 205 societies are under liquidation. Himachal Pradesh has achieved an impressive milestone with PACS covering 99.67% of the gram panchayat in the State. This widespread presence ensures that financial services and support are accessible to the majority of rural areas, contributing to financial inclusion and rural development. It is a rural sector dominant state having 4,362 out of 5,009 societies in rural areas.

Jammu & Kashmir

The Cooperative Societies Act, 1912 came into being for the development of cooperatives in the state. The Cooperative Movement in Jammu and Kashmir was first institutionalized in 1913. The legal framework was further updated in 1936, 1960, 1989 and 1999. Cooperative Credit Societies Act, 1904 was enacted to add, to some extent, the challenges of rural credit in Jammu & Kashmir. In tune with the National Policy, the State Govt. has introduced reforms both legal and structural in the Cooperative Movement from time to time. 'To encourage the Cooperative Movement' is a promise under the Constitution of the State.

As per NCD, there are 8,604 cooperative societies present in the UT. Out of these, 6,983 societies are functional while 1,621 are non-functional and under liquidation societies. The number of members associated with these societies are 8,92,841. Out of 20 districts, Srinagar has maximum contribution of cooperatives with 1,656 societies having 64,174 members while Bandipora district has maximum membership (2,49,668). Handicraft cooperative is the prominent sector in the UT. A total of 3,898 societies are registered under handicraft cooperatives in which around one-third (1,249) societies are in Srinagar district. There are 1,063 Dairy Cooperatives, 599 PACS and 19 Fishery Cooperatives. Out of 4,288 Gram Panchayats, 2,789 (63.25%) Gram Panchayats are fully covered with PACS. 30.88% PACS are successfully affiliated with federation/union.

NCD is useful to general public as it may give desired information to them about financial and other position of the societies and if at all they want to deal with the society, they can do so after verifying financial viability of the society. The NCD portal is a one-stop solution for the district level officers and Head of Department regulating cooperative sector in the UT.

Jharkhand

Cooperatives in Jharkhand are dedicated to fostering comprehensive economic and social development for small and marginal farmers, artisans, and various societies. Their operations aim to uplift the people of the state, with a particular focus on the tribal community. Recognizing agriculture as the lifeline of the state's residents, cooperatives have played a pivotal role in this endeavour. The Cooperative Department's overarching objective is to provide short and medium-term production credit through a network of LAMPS (Large Area Multipurpose Societies) and PACS (Primary Agriculture Credit Societies), facilitated by the Jharkhand State Cooperative Bank Ltd. Ranchi, District Central Co-operative Bank Ltd. Dhanbad, and Vyapar Mandal Sahyog Samities etc.

Presently Jharkhand has 11,409 cooperative societies, out of which 7,267 are a functional, 3,952 are non-functional, and 190 are under liquidation. Of these, 9,773 societies are located in the rural sector, while 1,636 operate in the urban sector, collectively providing membership to 20,92,988 individuals. In operational sectors, Primary Agriculture Credit Societies (PACS) lead with 4,411 societies and 14,38,615 members. PACS in the state function as multiservice centres, serving as one-stop shops for farmers by offering storage, procurement, and marketing facilities. The Women's Welfare Cooperative Society, covering 11.6% of cooperatives, boasts 1,06,061 memberships. Notably, when examining the coverage of Gram Panchayats (GPs) on the National Cooperatives Database (NCD) portal, PACS have a remarkable 98.3% coverage, with Giridih district having the highest number of GPs with PACS. The audit of 924 PACS reveals that 75.9% are affiliated with banks.

Madhya Pradesh

India

To foster voluntary cooperative institutions through democratic means and prevent the exploitation of vulnerable sections of society, Madhya Pradesh has witnessed the formation of diverse cooperative entities at various levels. The legislative framework governing cooperatives is meticulously crafted with the objective of organizing these institutions, fostering mutual support, and propelling the socio-economic development of weaker sections. The Department of Cooperatives plays a pivotal role in providing essential guidance, protection, and both technical and economic support to these institutions. This support includes share capital, loans, loan guarantees, and grants. Cooperative organizations have emerged as vital contributors to social equality by prioritizing the welfare of extremely backward sections and women. Substantial amendments to the Madhya Pradesh Cooperative Act, based on the recommendations of the Vaidyanathan committee, have bolstered the commercial platform for Agricultural Credit cooperative structures. These cooperative institutes, integral to the Department of Cooperation, undertake public utility tasks across diverse fields such as agricultural production, fertilizer distribution, seed supply, pesticide provision, food grain distribution, support prices for agricultural produce, consumer services, housing, fisheries, dairy, weaving, minerals, forest produce, seed production, education, training, and the construction and operation of industrial units.

Madhya Pradesh comprises 52 districts housing 51,701 cooperatives with a membership of 1,34,19,734 individuals. Notably, Indore district boasts the highest number of cooperatives (3577) with 6,86,790 members. Impressively, 91.2% of Gram Panchayats (GPs) are fully covered with Primary Agricultural Credit Societies (PACS). Furthermore, 68% of the PACS, 61.8% of dairy cooperatives, and 21.2% of fishery cooperatives are affiliated with banks, federations, or unions. Notably, Madhya Pradesh leads with 11,007 societies registered under women's welfare, with Dhar district hosting the highest number of Women's Welfare societies (1052), underscoring the pivotal role of women in the upliftment of these societies.

Maharashtra

Maharashtra stands as a prominent state in India, boasting a robust and longstanding cooperative movement. The Commissioner for Cooperation & Registrar of Cooperative Societies (CC & RCS), operating under the Department of Cooperation, Marketing, and Textiles in Pune, holds a pivotal role in overseeing rural finance, PACS, banking (including District Central Cooperative Banks), industrial cooperatives, and housing societies. Under its jurisdiction, the CC & RCS administers key legislations such as the Maharashtra Cooperative Societies Act, 1960 and rules, 1961, the Maharashtra Agricultural Produce Marketing (Regulation) Act, 1963, the Bombay Money-Lenders Act, 1946, and the Bombay Warehousing Act, 1959, along with their respective rules. The legal framework outlined in the Maharashtra Cooperative Societies Act, 1960 covers various aspects, showcasing the government's commitment to overseeing cooperative activities comprehensively. The overarching vision and mission of cooperatives in Maharashtra are to strengthen the movement by developing financially sound and economically independent institutions. This includes proactive and prompt administration of cooperatives, both rural and urban, aiding them in efficiently achieving common development goals through enhanced delivery of quality services.

Maharashtra boasts an impressive cooperative landscape with 2,22,214 Primary Cooperative Societies, 666 Multi-State Cooperatives, 123 District Federations, and 155 Sugar Mill Federations. Currently, 2,14,851 Societies are functional, while 4,577 are non-functional, and 2,786 are under liquidation. There are 5,80,21,309 members in cooperatives in the State, with housing cooperatives covering the majority at 56%, followed by credit and thrift societies at 9%. The credit and thrift societies hold the maximum membership at 2,27,26,948. Notably, 98% and 17% of Gram Panchayats are covered under PACS and Dairy respectively. In addition, 98% of PACS, 44% of dairy cooperatives, and 15% of fishery cooperatives are affiliated with banks, federations, or unions.

Nagaland

Nagaland is predominantly agricultural economy with 71.14 per cent of the population dependent on agriculture. Agriculture is one of the significant contributors to the Gross State Domestic Product and is the largest employer of the workforce in the State. The State of Nagaland can be considered a late starter to embrace and spread of cooperative movement. The real effort for organizing the cooperative movement in the State started only after Nagaland attained statehood in 1963.

The diversification of agricultural activities to crops such as rubber, oilseeds, sugarcane, coffee and other horticulture crops (pineapples, kiwi, persimmon, etc.) in recent years is seen as a significant move towards production for commercial purposes. In the result, Agriculture & Allied Cooperative stands second with 2,046 societies among all primary cooperatives present in the state.

As it is an agricultural economy, a large number of cooperatives (6,984) lies in the rural areas whereas only 1,135 cooperatives are in urban areas. Dimapur district has the highest societies (1,166) with the membership of 25,579. Zunheboto district has 874 cooperatives with maximum members 82,499. Multipurpose cooperatives have maximum share 27.52% of total cooperatives, while PACS have maximum membership (33.09%). Of these societies, 52 societies are affiliated with StCB/DCCB. The recent efforts of the Ministry of Cooperation, is poised to transform cooperatives in Nagaland.

Rajasthan

The cooperative movement in Rajasthan started in 1904 from Ajmer. In 1904 itself, the first cooperative agricultural bank of the state was established in Deeg (Bharatpur). The cooperatives in Rajasthan are driven by the noble objective of liberating farmers, workers, artisans, small businessmen, and the public engaged in productive activities from the exploitation of middlemen. The primary focus is on encouraging collective economic activity based on cooperation to ensure the economic, social, and cultural development of these diverse groups. Additionally, cooperatives aim to provide quality goods to consumers at reasonable prices, fostering an exploitation-free, self-reliant, and robust economic and social system for the overall progress of the state.

Rajasthan's cooperative landscape is characterized by 36,818 Primary Cooperative Societies, 73 Multi-State Cooperatives, 18 State Federations, 29 District Cooperative Banks, and 36 Primary Cooperative Agriculture & Rural Development Banks. Currently, 21,170 societies are functional in Rajasthan, with 12,833 non-functional and 2,815 under liquidation. Most societies (30,692) are situated in the rural sector, while the remaining 6,126 are in urban areas. These cooperatives provide a membership of 1,639,429 members, with Primary Agriculture Credit Societies (PACS) having the highest membership at 8,391,844. Notably, almost 42.81% of societies are covered under Dairy Cooperatives, and 11.7% are registered under Women's Welfare Cooperative Society. Significantly, 70.73% of Gram Panchayats (GPs) are covered under PACS, and Dairies encompass 57.9% of the GPs coverage. Furthermore, 75.9% of PACS, 57.6% of Dairy Cooperatives, and 10.7% of Fishery Cooperatives are affiliated with Banks, Federations, or Unions.

Sikkim

Cooperative Movement in Sikkim dates back to the enactment of Sikkim Cooperative Societies Act 1955. Under this Act, the present 'Denzong Agriculture Cooperative Society Ltd', 22 Primary Agriculture Credit Cooperative Societies and few ex-soldiers Consumer Cooperative Societies were organized. With Sikkim joining the mainstream of India in 1975, a full-fledged Cooperation Department was established and a new and comprehensively framed Sikkim Cooperative Societies Act, 1978 replaced the old Act of which further followed by enforcement of Sikkim Cooperative Societies Rules of 1981, which gave rise to the growth of Cooperative Societies in Sikkim. The Apex federations namely 'Sikkim Consumers Cooperative Society Ltd., 1975', Gangtok and 'Sikkim Cooperative Milk Producers Union Ltd (SMU), 1980 have been playing significant role in respective sector.

Total Cooperative Societies registered in Sikkim are 3,784 with the membership of 11,6021. State comprises 6 districts, of which Namchi has highest number of societies (1,173) and highest number of members (36,066). Labour sector is the prominent sector which has 73.55% share of the total societies functioning in the state. Uttar Pradesh

Cooperative movement started in 1904 in the state and country with the objective to provide short-term crop loan to common people especially rural farmers for their economic development. Later, other program such as fertilizers, distribution of seeds, process units/cold storage, distribution of consumer goods, long-term loans, labour organization, dairy development, sugar cane industry, housing, handloom development etc. were also started through cooperative societies.

Due to expansion of cooperative movement/programs, the power of Registrar, Cooperative Societies has been delegated to the officers of 9 other departments, viz., Sugarcane, Industry, Khadi and Village Industry, Housing, Milk, Handloom, Fishery, Silk and Horticulture. The cooperative societies are managed by representatives elected in democratic manner which promote people's participation.

Uttar Pradesh Cooperative and Village Development Bank provides long-term loans for agriculture and non-agriculture sector through its branches. Urban Cooperative Banks of the State provide consumer loan, housing loan, vehicle loan and business loan in their area of operation. To save the farmers from the exploitation of middleman, wheat and paddy are purchased by the cooperative societies under price support program of state government. Additional storage capacity is being created to enhance the present storage capacity of cooperative societies.

A total of 43,362 cooperative societies are registered in 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh with membership of 1,84,64,158 members. Lucknow, Agra and Prayagraj districts have the highest number of societies viz. 1543, 1490 and 1468 respectively. Dairy sector is the largest sector constituting of 41.17% (17,852) cooperatives. It is followed by PACS which constitute 17.39% (7541) cooperatives. Notably, 50.84% (93,87,212) of the total members are engaged in PACS. 77.51% (33,609) of the societies are working in rural areas. Though PACS constitute 17.39% of the cooperatives, their Gram Panchayat coverage is extensive (96.16%). Dairy cooperatives cover 27.01% of the Gram Panchayats. Majority of the PACS 5414 are affiliated with Federations/ Unions.

Uttarakhand

In the year 1904, by making the Cooperative Credit Society Act, the provision of loans on easy terms through cooperatives was started, which was the first step in the field of cooperatives in India. Keeping in view the multifaceted expansion of the cooperative movement, a new Cooperative Act was formed in Uttar Pradesh in the year 1965, which remained parallelly applicable in Uttarakhand state also till the year 2003.

In the year 2003, a new Cooperative Societies Act, 2003 was formed and implemented by the state of Uttarakhand. Along with this, keeping in view the changing environment of the economy at the national and international level, a new Self-reliant Cooperative Act 2003 has also been formed and implemented by the state of Uttarakhand in which the cooperative societies have been completely freed from the control of the State Government and the Registrar and given complete autonomy. Constitutional Amendment (97th) has been passed with the aim of giving autonomy to the cooperative societies and reducing the control of the State Government in them.

The Cooperative Department is providing financial assistance to the cooperative societies by implementing various schemes like cooperative loan scheme, purchase-sale scheme, consumer scheme, etc. In the department, the work of loan distribution is being done by 10 district cooperative banks and their 235 branches.

Currently, 5,288 cooperative societies are registered in Uttarakhand with a total membership of 1,60,11,98 members. Majority of the societies have their presence in rural areas (4508) while the remaining societies 780 are catering to the urban areas. More than half of the societies are working under Dairy Sector (2752) with a total membership of 1,21,528. PACS stand at second position with 672 cooperative (12.71%). However, PACS have the highest number of members 10,84,175 (67.71%). There are 7283 Gram Panchayats in the state which are covered by 672 PACS. Around 85% of PACS are affiliated with Bank/ Federation/ Union.

COOPERATIVE IDENTITY VALUES AND PRINCIPLES

DEFINITION OF A COOPERATIVE

A cooperative is an autonomous association of persons united voluntarily to meet their common economic, social and cultural needs and aspirations through a jointly-owned and democratically-controlled enterprise.

COOPERATIVE VALUES

Cooperatives are based on the values of self-help, self-responsibility, democracy, equality, equity, and solidarity. In the tradition of their founders, cooperative members believe in the ethical values of honesty, openness, social responsibility and caring for others.

COOPERATIVE PRINCIPLES

The cooperative principles are guidelines by which cooperatives put their values into practice.

1.	Voluntary and Open Membership
	Cooperatives are voluntary organisations, open to all persons able to use their services and willing to accept the responsibilities of membership, without gender, social, racial, political or religious discrimination.
2.	Democratic Member Control
	Cooperatives are democratic organisations controlled by their members, who actively participate in setting their policies and making decisions. Men and women serving as elected representatives are accountable to the membership. In primary cooperatives members have equal voting rights (one member, one vote) and cooperatives at other levels are also organised in a democratic manner.
3.	Member Economic Participation
	Members contribute equitably to, and democratically control, the capital of their cooperative. At least part of that capital is usually the common property of the cooperative. Members usually receive limited compensation, if any, on capital subscribed as a condition of membership. Members allocate surpluses for any or all of the following purposes: developing their cooperative, possibly by setting up reserves, part of which at least would be indivisible, benefiting members in proportion to their transactions with the cooperative, and supporting other activities approved by the membership.
4.	Autonomy and Independence
	Cooperatives are autonomous, self-help organisations controlled by their members. If they enter into agreements with other organisations, including governments, or raise capital from external sources, they do so on terms that ensure democratic control by their members and maintain their cooperative autonomy.
5.	Education, Training, and Information
	Cooperatives provide education and training for their members, elected representatives, managers, and employees so they can contribute effectively to the development of their cooperatives. They inform the general public - particularly young people and opinion leaders about the nature and benefits of co-operation.
6.	Cooperation among Cooperatives
	Cooperatives serve their members most effectively and strengthen the cooperative movement by working together through local, national, regional and international structures.
7.	Concern for Community
	Cooperatives work for the sustainable development of their communities through policies approved by their members.
